

Anne Clarke

What's important to me...

Family and friends are important to me, having everyone round for meals and having some real fun family time and enjoying good company.

In addition to this I really enjoy going on holiday with my husband and family; my favourite place being Italy.

I like working in my garden as this is my relaxation time and everyone who passes, stops for a chat and I do like a good blether!

What people like and admire about me...

This was difficult for me to answer so I asked my family and friends and this is what they said:-

honest,
easy to speak to and patient
good company
like a laugh and have a good sense of humour dedicated and will go the extra mile if I can helpful, friendly and approachable problem solver
good communication skills
I think that's enough for my "Brag Bag"

How best to support me...

listen to me when I have a concern.

show me how to do what I don't know.

allow me time to solve any concerns.

be a voice of reason.

encourage me to think outside the box.