

Diane Eaton

What's important to me...

My family are the most important thing to me. I enjoy spending lots of time with them and I especially like going on holiday with them.

Our team meetings keep me up to date with what others are doing.

Being able to go to the gym after work or walking with my friends; exercise is something I have always enjoyed.

Healthy eating, including drinking lots of water, cups of tea and also the odd glass of prosecco at the weekend.

To know what I am doing each day, I like to be organised.

Honesty – I prefer someone to be upfront and say it how it is.

Having time to listen to other people's difficulties and concerns.

What people like and admire about me...

Organised and efficient
Trustworthy and honest
Dependable and reliable
Kind and caring
Approachable and helpful
Patient and thoughtful
Loyal and compassionate
Good listener

How best to support me...

I like to be organised, tell me plans in advance so that I have time to prepare.

Give me constructive feedback to help my own learning.

Reassurance that I have done something well, and let me know when I have not done so well.

Have confidence in me to carry out new tasks which I may not have done before and have the knowledge that I will ask for help if required.

Let me know deadlines so I can prioritise my work.